U.N. To Hear Demands For Lumumba's Release

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council will meet Wednesday to hear Soviet demands that Congo authorities release deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba from jail.

Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin, the December president of the 11-nation council, failed to get an emergency session Tuesday night. He bumped up against angry opposition from the Western powers, which said there was no reason for undue haste.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu reinforced Equator Province to the north Tuesday after soldiers loyal to ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba attacked three villages there.

The attackers came from Oriental Province to the east, stronghold of Lumumba's supporters who are threatening to set up a rival regime in Stanleyville, the provincial capital.

The raid tended to discount a statement by Mobutu, the Congo army chief, that the Lumumba faction held only part of Stanleyville and had no strength in the rest of Oriental.

Reprisal Attack
The attack on the Equator border villages apparently was in reprisal for Mobutu's arrest of Lumumba, captured in the interior last week after he eluded army surveillance in this capital.

Advices from the province said the raiders attacked villages inhabited by the Bumbas, Mobutu's tribe, and at least two villagers were killed.

Mobutu sent a company of soldiers by plane from Leopoldville to reinforce the garrisons in Equator.

Wrangling between Mobutu's backers and the United Nations continued. A U.N. official promised vigorous action if—as reported—the Congolese Transport Corp. carried out a threat to halt the transport of U.N. supplies by rail between the port of Matadi and Leopoldville.

U.N. soldiers guarding the residence of President Joseph Kasavubu, a Mobutu backer, were abruptly withdrawn. They had been on guard duty there for several months.

U.N. officials said Kasavubu's security has now become a purely Congolese matter. The U.N. command, embittered by the absence of any apology or offer of compensation after Congolese soldiers made savage assaults on U.N. personnel recently.

Mobutu called newsmen to his army camp and told them that Lumumba had not been brutally assaulted in jail, as reported.

He said Belgian doctors examined Lumumba and pronounced him in satisfactory condition. He conceded that Lumumba had a sprained wrist and a swollen eye from the beating by the soldiers who captured him.

Mobutu denied an allegation by Rajeshwar Dayal, Indian head of the U.N. Congo mission, that Lumumba was "suffering from serious injuries." Dayal made the charge in a report submitted to U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Envoy Assaults Cuban Defector

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban career diplomat, who said he has refused to return to Cuba, charged Tuesday he had been assaulted, cut and threatened with death by Cuban Ambassador Quintín Pino Machado.

The charge was made by Felix Enrique Hurtado, former alternate delegate to the Inter-American Economic and Social Council.

Pino is ambassador to the council, a part of the Organization of American States.

Pino was not available for comment on the charge, made by a shakeup in the Cuban Foreign Ministry. The sources said the shakeup apparently is designed to replace career officers with diplomats known for their adherence to the Fidel Castro regime.

Last Friday, two other Cuban Embassy diplomats—First Secretary Manuel Mendia and Second Secretary Aurelio Giroud—also refused to return to Cuba and have left the Cuban diplomatic service.

Hurtado refused to carry a letter to Cuba. "Because I felt that this unexpected trip would mean nothing less than my imprisonment upon arriving in Cuba," he said.

After he refused to carry the letter, Hurtado said Pino came with him to his apartment, presumably to discuss a technical matter.

But instead, Hurtado said, "Pino proceeded to utter threats and accusations stating that I was a traitor for refusing to go to Cuba. He became violent and demanded that I surrender my passport."

"I, of course, refused. He then assaulted me, and I defended myself," Hurtado said. He suffered a cut near his eye.

Pino, as other diplomats, enjoys immunity from U.S. prosecution. If the incident were judged serious enough, he could be declared persona non grata, and asked to leave the country.

State Workers May Get Raise
HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence will ask the State Executive Board Dec. 14 to approve pay boosts for some 13,000 state workers.

The Executive Board, made up of some cabinet officials and advisers, is expected to endorse the proposal.

Reports on the diplomatic roughing up, which Hurtado said occurred Monday, coincided with what diplomatic sources said was a shakeup in the Cuban Foreign Ministry. The sources said the shakeup apparently is designed to replace career officers with diplomats known for their adherence to the Fidel Castro regime.

Approve French A-Status

PARIS (AP)—France finally decided Tuesday to pay the full price for membership in the world's atomic club—an independent, exclusively national nuclear striking force.

The National Assembly gave its backing Tuesday to President Charles de Gaulle's plan for a $1.2-billion striking force when the government's opposition again failed to muster enough votes behind a motion of censure against the government.

It was the third and final time this had happened in the National Assembly. Under the Fifth Republic's parliamentary procedure, this was enough to override the Senate, which had twice rejected the project, and enact the bill into law.

Less Than Needed
The opposition marshaled only 215 votes, far less than the 277 needed for the censure motion, which would have overthrown Premier Michel Debre's Cabinet. On the two earlier readings, the opposition was 207 and 214 respectively.

Under the Fifth Republic, a bill is considered adopted if a motion of censure involving the project fails to pass. If the Senate disagrees, the Assembly has the final word on a third reading.

The bill is designed to give France its own nuclear deterrent with the controls still in De Gaulle's hands. It provides for a stock of French-built atomic bombs—perhaps hydrogen bombs later—and French planes, naval craft and missiles to deliver them.

The plan was assailed as being too costly for French resources, and too small to be really effective. Other critics charged De Gaulle was leading France into diplomatic violation with his go-it-alone defense policy.

Reports on the diplomatic roughing up, which Hurtado said occurred Monday, coincided with what diplomatic sources said was a shakeup in the Cuban Foreign Ministry. The sources said the shakeup apparently is designed to replace career officers with diplomats known for their adherence to the Fidel Castro regime.

Hulan Jack Convicted, Loses Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack was convicted Tuesday in a retrial of conflict-of-interest charges. The jury's verdict costs him his $25,000-a-year post, the highest municipal office in the land held by a Negro.

Jack was visibly stunned by the verdict. He swallowed hard and left the courtroom in a daze.

"I'm very disappointed in the verdict handed down this evening," he later told reporters. "I say to all of you I'm fully convinced of my innocence and it will be established some day."

Jack, 55, can receive misdemeanor jail sentences totaling three years under the conviction, plus $1,500 in fines. Sentencing was scheduled for Jan. 16.

The conviction, for accepting an apartment remodeling job from a city business client, climaxed a series of scandals currently besetting the Democratic city administration.

Defense attorney Carson De Witt Baker told newsmen outside the General Sessions courthouse: "There will be an appeal to every court in the nation that has jurisdiction."

However, the City Charter makes no provision for a reversal of the verdict on appeal. It provides that upon conviction of a crime, a city official must be replaced regardless of the possibility of future litigation.

A new borough president will be selected by Manhattan's six city councilmen as soon as a special meeting is arranged. Five of them are Democrats.

The guilty verdict came in only four hours and 35 minutes, almost five months to the day after Jack's first trial ended in a hung jury. The original jurors deadlocked 8-4 for his conviction July 7 and were discharged after nearly 35 hours.

The retrial began Nov. 14, amid unfounded rumors that Jack would resign to avoid further prosecution. Judge Joseph Serafini, who also presided at the first trial, gave the case to the retrial jury at 12:32 p.m.

At 5:05 p.m., the all-white jury was back with its verdict—guilty on three counts of a four-count indictment. Jack was found to have violated the conflict-of-interest clause of the charter on two counts, and of an additional charge of conspiring to obstruct justice by trying to conceal the apartment remodeling transaction.

The jury cleared Jack of a fourth count—accepting a gratuity. Thus it accepted his story that the transaction represented a loan, rather than a payoff.

The courtroom was cleared for the verdict and Jack's wife, Almiria, and his son, Edwin, 24, kept vigil outside.

The jury forewoman, Katherine Finley, a housewife and grandmother, said the jurors cast only four ballots—one on each count—in reaching its decision.

Leaps To Death From Bridge
SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Charles Hurlbut, 54, leaped to his death Tuesday from the Harrison Ave. bridge, Lackawanna County Coroner Paul E. Kubasko reported.

Hurlbut's stepfather, the late Duncan T. Campbell, was a Scranton utility executive.

Hurlbut, an employee of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., had worked this morning and jumped from the bridge during his lunch hour. Kubasko said the dead man had been receiving treatment for several years for mental depression. He is survived by his widow.

Kennedy Baby To Be Baptized
WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy Jr., the nation's most famous baby, will be baptized Thursday in the chapel of Georgetown University Hospital.

Only his parents, President elect John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, and a few others, will be there to watch Father Martin Casey administer the sacrament of baptism of the Roman Catholic Church. Father Casey is pastor of Holy Trinity Church in Georgetown.

Temporary Tax Cut One Of Labor's Objectives

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major segment of organized labor urged President-elect John F. Kennedy Tuesday to sponsor a broad, temporary tax cut as a "direct attack on economic stagnation."

That is the top item on a long list of objectives proposed for the incoming national administration at a meeting here of the Executive Committee of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department.

This department, headed by President Walter Reuther of the Auto Workers Union, claims about seven million members, mostly factory workers.

Declaring the nation is again in a "full-blown recession," its policy statement said a direct attack on economic sluggishness is the "best way to reverse current unemployment, budget and growth trends."

"First and foremost," it said, "the nation needs high velocity dollars in the hands of the average consumer. To this end the IUD urges a broad-based, temporary tax cut aimed at increasing the net spendable income of America's great mass of wage and salary earners."

The statement did not mention what type of taxes should be cut, or how much or for how long. Presumably a cut in income taxes was meant. The AFL-CIO group said $10 billion compensating taxes could be raised by plugging tax loopholes.

The statement said unemployment has reached a 20-year record for November of approximately four million, and is headed toward five million in January when Kennedy will be inaugurated.

The Labor Department reported, meanwhile, that most employers expect a net decrease in job levels by mid-January.

A survey showed an increase in the number of areas classed by the government as having substantial labor surplus, meaning an idle rate of over 6 per cent of the work force.

The number of such areas has grown to 51, or more than a third of the nation's major production centers. The number was 32 a year earlier and 83 in November 1958 in the recession.

Herd Of 20 Deer Startled Hunters
SCIOTA—Puzzle: ten hunters, 20 deer, no shots fired, one deer killed. How come?

Well, it's all very simple when you learn that the ten hunters were en route to a spot in the Poconos to hunt deer. And that the 20 deer—both male and female—had streaked across the highway in front of their vehicles.

How about the one deer killed? Well, that came when 19 of the deer raced across a house lawn in this village. The 20th became confused, lost its sense of direction and crashed into a chicken coop. It suffered a broken neck.

John H. Doehling, district game protector, reported the hunters were so startled they didn't think about getting their guns out of the cars.

The hunters names will go unidentified—for obvious reasons.

Blinking Palermo Branded Undercover Fight Manager
WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank (Blinky) Palermo, reputed stand-in as underworld czar of boxing, was named by a Senate investigator Tuesday as shadow manager of Sonny Liston, ranking heavyweight contender.

Palermo is "the important one" to see in arranging bouts for Liston, special counsel John G. Bonomi told a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee probing gangland influences in bigtime boxing.

Truman Gibson, former president of the onetime powerful International Boxing clubs of New York and Chicago, agreed with Bonomi's statement about the alleged Palermo-Liston relationship.

The day's hearing also turned up these major developments:
1. Investigators produced grand jury testimony in which former fight manager Herman (Hymie the Mink) Wallman of New York agreed that mobster Frank Carbo virtually controlled matchmaking in Madison Square Garden. Palermo allegedly is exercising Carbo's powers while Carbo is in prison.

Used Influence
Wallman was in the subcommittee witness chair when the grand jury testimony was read into the record. He supplemented it by saying Carbo pulled strings to obtain Garden bouts for fighters Wallman managed.

No longer managing, Wallman said Carbo exercised his influence through matchmaker Billy Brown, who worked for the New

Tell World Our Goals Remain Same

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and his successor, Sen. John F. Kennedy, met man-to-man Tuesday to talk about the political changeover and to seal American unity behind the continued search for world peace.

The Republican President and the Democratic president-elect, chatting at a White House conference for more than three hours, laid aside the acrimony of a presidential campaign in which each had assailed the other's policies and proposals.

Their dramatic morning meeting occurred before a backdrop of pomp and pageantry—a military honor guard and patriotic music.

Foreign Payments
Then sitting side by side at the President's desk in the oval executive office, Eisenhower and Kennedy talked alone for an hour and 50 minutes about domestic and international affairs. Their discussions centered particularly on the troublesome imbalance of U.S. foreign payments and its threat to the stability of the American dollar.

Then, Eisenhower, at 70 the oldest president ever to serve, and Kennedy, at 43 the youngest ever elected to the office, walked a few steps to the Cabinet room.

There Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates filled in Kennedy on the details of American problems in a sorely troubled world. These talks lasted an hour and 15 minutes.

Out of the conferences came a joint Eisenhower-Kennedy statement aimed at reassuring the world that the January transition from a Republican to a Democratic administration will be an orderly one in which historic American objectives will remain unchanged.

Protect Freedom
The President and the president-elect reaffirmed the position that the United States does not covet other peoples' territory and does not seek to dominate them. "The American people and their government have consistently sought to protect freedom and have tried to help people throughout the world better their standards of living," their joint statement said. "These national objectives will be vigorously pursued by the incoming administration."

"The government of the United States has and will continue to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples."

As Kennedy left the White House, he told reporters he had had a cordial meeting with Eisenhower, who had described him sarcastically only a few weeks ago during the election campaign as a "young genius" unprepared to take on the burdens of the presidency.

Kennedy said he had brought up in the discussion the possibility that Eisenhower might undertake some public service after his retirement in January. He said Eisenhower had stated he would be happy to serve if the time should come when he could do so usefully.

Military Pomp
His arrival at the White House was marked with military pomp not usually displayed in such affairs.

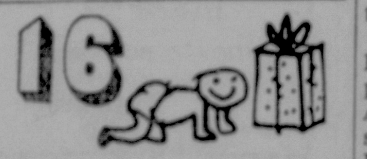

Uniformed members of the armed services lined the driveway and the Marine Band struck up "The Stars and Stripes Forever" as Kennedy's unescorted car drove into the White House grounds.

Eisenhower was waiting on the White House portico for Kennedy's arrival. The President escorted his successor inside the house and introduced him to members of the staff and James Rowley, chief of the White House Secret Service.

Eisenhower, who has shunned contact with his own predecessor, Harry S. Truman, seemed to have gone out of his way to make Kennedy feel at home in what soon will be the Democratic senator's home.

In talking with reporters afterwards, Kennedy identified the gold outflow from the United States as one specific problem that figured in his talks with the President.

He said the discussions covered a wide range of problems the new administration will face when it takes office.

Mother Convicted Of Giving Drugs To 'Sleeping Beauties'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Petite, attractive Lillian Fratanonio, mother of this city's "sleeping beauties," was convicted Tuesday of mistreating the two little girls by secretly feeding them sleep-inducing drugs.

The girls received nationwide attention last summer when doctors puzzled over what sent them into deep comas.

The younger, Bernadette, 3, had been in the hospital for the biggest part of a year, and thousands of dollars were contributed to pay for the specialists who examined her here and in New York.

Defense attorneys said they will consult with the family before deciding whether to file an appeal.

The key element in the state's case was a statement in which Mrs. Fratanonio confessed to the druggings. She later repudiated it from the witness stand. The question was whether she had used an eyedropper to administer the drugs.

The maximum penalty for the criminal charge of ill treatment of children is one year in jail and a fine of $500.

In her confession, made to police a few days after the birth of her fifth child, Mrs. Fratanonio is quoted as saying she gave the girls barbiturates in the hope it would bring her and her husband closer together. This point was never further elaborated during the trial.

Mt. Pocono Gets Report On Rate Cuts

MOUNT POCONO — A report on the progress of obtaining fire insurance rate reductions for business establishments and eligible homeowners was made at borough council meeting in the firehouse here Monday night.

Donald A. Robbins Sr., insurance representative, made the report. He stated that his reason for voluntarily contacting the proper authorities who control fire insurance rates in Pennsylvania was prompted by his observations of the improvements in the borough water system.

He said members of Mount Pocono borough Council should be complimented for their cooperation with the new water company owners.

He also observed that local citizens will have better, safer and more effective fire protection; and will experience substantial savings in the cost of fire insurance.

President Albert Stets led a discussion of the council on the improvements of borough's Fairview Water Company that followed Robbins' remarks.

Under the direction of George Walker, the water company has laid 17,500 feet of new mains on 16 streets in the borough since 1954. The Sterling Road and Wilson Spring reservations were rebuilt and enclosed with storage capacity increased some 25,000 gallons.

Other Improvements

Other improvements by Walker are a new reservoir in the Pine Hill Park development with an added 110,000 gallon capacity; a new pump installation; and the purchase of several acres of land to increase the water shed holdings. The total expenditures by the water company for these improvements was $62,000.

It was noted the borough is one of the largest and fastest growing in Monroe County and that this growth forces development of virgin areas which require planning, especially by the council and water company.

Future plans of the water company include the installation and development of new water supply and stand by service; increased pressure in the high service area; and completion of the water distribution system in all the borough with six inch and eight inch mains. This will increase the pressure throughout the borough and eliminate dead ends. Robbins stated it will also establish a second fire insurance rate reduction.

Mayor Gerald Possinger reported on the local police activities and announced that the State of Pennsylvania will enforce their regulations for garbage disposal. He stated the borough must provide immediately for abatement of the open garbage dumps as directed by the State.

Approve Contribution
The council members approved a contribution to the Christmas street lighting fund; authorized the repair of street lights in the Kyncl Pine Hill Park development; provided for gassing the police car in the Volunteer Fire Company building; and accepted the resignation of borough auditor Francis O'Boyle.

Elmer Christine, solicitor for the borough, presented a resolution to be executed and adopted for ordaining Laurel Lane. This is a new street in the Ucliferi new home development.

PV Center Membership Rises To 174

PARADISE VALLEY — Seventy four persons have joined the Paradise Valley Community Center, boosting membership in the two-year-old organization to 174.

Mrs. Clara DePue, membership chairman, reported that canvassing will continue in the Mt. Pocono and Paradise Valley areas. Dues are one dollar a year per family member.

At a recent meeting of the group, discussion was continued as to the type of building to be constructed on the center's four-acre plot adjacent to the Kokee Chapel. Final decision was deferred to next year.

Rummage Sale Successful
The committee of the recently held rummage sale reported "great success" with that undertaking. The Christmas Candy Committee announced that it had sold most of the candy it had purchased.

Mrs. Harold Heydt proposed that the group put on a local talent show in the spring, with proceeds going to the center. She was asked to head up a committee to survey the possibilities of such a project.

President George Curnoles announced that no formal meetings of the organization will be held in January and February. During the next two months, he said, the group will get together at pot luck suppers, roller and ice skating parties.

Next regular meeting of the center is scheduled for the first Thursday night in March.

Eliminations Of Schools Shunned

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The executive director of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association said Tuesday his organization would give no quick approval to a reported proposal to eliminate 2,105 of the state's public school districts.

Under the plan as disclosed Sunday by the Philadelphia Bulletin, Pennsylvania's 2,277 school districts would be consolidated into 172 big ones.

John J. Hertz, the director, admitted that fewer districts may be needed for the good of education generally, but he added "we would want to study this proposal very, very carefully before giving it our blessing."

The association, representing 11,500 school directors, has asked that no district be combined without approval by the voters. The proposal, as reportedly made by a task force of Gov. Lawrence's committee on education, has no provision for voter approval. Committee members have had no comment.

Deer Kill Drops In 2nd Day

BUCK DEER season simmered down a bit yesterday after a highly successful opening day in Monroe County.

Only two deer were reported killed. The figure could be much higher but it is believed that most of the kills weren't reported as yet. Approximately 14 deer were reported killed on opening day.

Yesterday's reports show that two 8-point bucks were bagged. One was by Dick Swingle, 21, of 214 N. Eighth St., Stroudsburg, and Harold Lits, of Marshall Creek.

Swingle's kill was the first deer he has ever shot. It was brought down near Brushie Mt. Lits' deer was shot near his home town.

John H. Doehling, district game protector, said yesterday that the number of kill during the first day was "very good."

3,160 Bagged—According to official estimates of the first-day kill, some 3,460 antlered deer were bagged by hunters in the 13-county Northeast Division of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

The figures were given by Carl Stainbrook, Northeast Division supervisor, at the Game Commission Office in Dallas, near Scranton.

Stainbrook broke down the opening-day kill on a county-by-county basis as follows: Lackawanna, 175; Wayne, 475; Luzerne, 260; Monroe, 405; Pike, 550; Susquehanna, 225; Wyoming, 75; Sullivan, 450; Northumberland, 60; Montour, 30; Columbia, 160; Carbon, 250; and Bradford, 335.

Johnson To Escort Jaycee's Head

MORGAN J. Doughton, national president of 200,000-member United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, made his second visit to his Pennsylvania—his home state—yesterday.

Doughton will tour through the northeastern sectors of the state on Thursday.

William Johnson, state executive vice president, of Fifth St., Stroudsburg will accompany Doughton on the tour. Others slated to be in on the tour are, State President Jack Campbell, of Monongahela, executive director Neil Kline, Harrisburg, and Dr. George Dollinger, Scranton, a national director of the U. S. Jaycees.

President Doughton is past president of Pennsylvania Jaycees and is the first Pennsylvanian ever elected national president. He resides in Allentown and is a native of Mansfield, Pa.

Scheduled—His schedule for Pennsylvania is as follows: Dec. 7, arrive in Pittsburgh; fly to Washington, D. C. for a meeting with top Civil Defense officials. Dec. 8, arrive in Scranton, where he will meet with city officials. He will then be taken on a tour of the area and travel by motorcade to Wilkes-Barre for a banquet in his honor.

All Jaycee chapters throughout northeastern Pennsylvania are expected to have representatives in attendance. Invitations have been extended to civic, industrial, and business leaders, and the general public is invited. The dinner will start at 8 p.m. in American Legion Post 45, River St., Wilkes-Barre. Anyone interested in attending may contact their local Jaycees chapter.

Eagles Plan New Year's Eve Party

PLANS FOR A New Year's Eve party for members, their wives and guests were announced by George Mackey, entertainment chairman, at last night's meeting of Stroudsburg Aerie 1106, Fraternal Order of Eagles. There will be a dance.

It was announced that a District 11 meeting will be held Sunday at Hazleton with members of the local aerie invited to attend.

Four new members were elected and Harold Edinger, chairman of the Max Baer heart fund, reported on the drive.

A minute of silent prayer was observed for Harry Williams, member of the aerie, who died recently.

The dual membership adopted by the national convention was read for the third time during the business meeting and adopted by the local group. John Leathers, president, was in charge of the business session at which Les Voss gave his report and that of the treasurer.

Advertising, Broadcasting—Most of the expenditures were for advertising and broadcasting. A payment of $200 was shown to the Northampton County Women's Day Committee, and $50 to the Carbon County Committee.

YOUNG LASS showing Annie Oakley marksmanship was Judy Ziegler, Henryville, who brought down a buck on the first day of deer season. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ziegler, Henryville.

Mail Early Campaign In High Gear

POSTMASTERS Norman Gregory of East Stroudsburg and Fred Rhodes of Stroudsburg yesterday put their "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign into high gear.

They said: "We're heading into an all time record for Christmas mail this year. Every facility of the post office has been expanded to render maximum service."

They said the vast volume of Christmas mail is only part of their problems. Carelessly written names and addresses, poorly wrapped packages, insufficient postage and other oversights result in delays and disappointments.

Several Reminders—They urged mailers to be sure their Christmas card and gift mailing lists are up-to-date; wrap Christmas gifts securely and use complete address, including street number, rural route or post office box number, and use zone numbers where applicable.

Nonpublic CD Test Today—HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Council of Civil Defense yesterday announced a nonpublic civil defense test Wednesday to mark the 19th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

"No sirens will sound and the public will not be required to participate in Wednesday's test," said Dr. Richard Gerstell, state CD director.

Drills Today—THE drum and bugle corps of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will rehearse at 7:30 p.m. today at the post home.

Persons desiring to join the group are invited to attend.

'Diary Of Anne Frank' Opens At ESSC Tomorrow

THE FALL PLAY at the East Stroudsburg State College, "The Diary of Anne Frank," will be presented December 8, 9 and 10 in the College Auditorium by Alpha Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity. Curtain time at 8 p.m.

Although "Diary" depicts the futile attempt of two Jewish families to escape Nazi persecution, the play is by no means limited to suspense and impending disaster. Family comedy situations and a youthful romance occupy a good part of the play.

The Frank family, with its generosity, tolerance and open-mindedness, is contrasted to Mr. and Mrs. Van Dean, who are more materialistic and shallow. Differences in character, coupled with a crowded, confined existence produce friction, which is at first laughable.

Much of the comedy is centered around Anne, who matures from a boisterous 13-year-old to a more refined 15-year-old. During these years she discovers Peter Van Dean, and though at first she wished he were a girl so she would have someone to talk to, at 15 she's glad the Van Deans had a son instead of a daughter. The cast includes three members who have previously been in plays presented at the college. Mr. Dussel is played by Bing McNulty, a junior from Scranton, who is in the secondary curriculum. Bing was in "Heaven Can Wait" and "Arsenic and Old Lace," and is a member of Mask and Zany, the Newman Club, Alpha Phi Omega, and Nature Club.

Mr. Drisler is played by Jeff Frantz, a sophomore from Bethlehem, enrolled in the secondary curriculum. Jeff was in the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega and the Male Chorus.

Sigmund Sobiesiak, a sophomore from Cherryville, enrolled in secondary education, plays the part of Mr. Van Dean. He was also a member of the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" and is a member of Mask and Zany, World Outlook Club and Alpha Phi Omega.

Assignments Awaited

The first 36 hours of the 87th session of Congress likely will determine the fate of the new Kennedy Administration's legislative program.

When the new House settles down to organizing itself, it will be undisputedly in Democratic hands. But will those hands be liberal or conservative?

If liberal, they will be pro-Kennedy. If conservative, then the new president will have a battle on his hands from the start.

And here's how you can tell: watch the treatment given Congressman Otto Passman, William M. Colmer, J. K. Whitten, John Bell Williams and Arthur Winstead.

These five Democrats re-elected from Louisiana and Mississippi have been in the House for 12 to 27 years. They have high seniority and enjoy good committee spots.

All of them—especially Rep. Colmer on the House Rules Committee—are in position to roadblock the administration.

Each opposed the nomination of Senator Kennedy and thereafter campaigned against his election. So now they face purging.

If they are dumped off their choice committees, you can bet that Mr. Kennedy has been successful in his demand for disciplinary action.

If they survive, however, and sit in the next session with full seniority privileges, he will be warned of rough days ahead for his legislative program.

Congressman Williams says the five defectors doubt if a purge will take place, but adds: "We realize we were taking a calculated risk."

Actually, tradition is on their side. If committee assignments are stripped from them, it will be the first time since Progressive Robert LaFollette's campaign in 1924 that either party in the House has broken the cherished seniority rule on which appointments are based.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Sick Highway Monsters

Interstate Commerce Commission inspectors have discovered something which many ordinary motorists have suspected without being able to prove it. That is that some of the trucks using the Pennsylvania Turnpike are not in safe operating condition.

The ICC report is far from conclusive, because agents made only spot checks by random selection, yet the findings are highly suggestive. Of 1,157 trucks inspected, about one out of five had defects. Worse, the most common failing was in the brakes.

The alarming part of the discovery is the implication that such defects very likely exist in many of the thousands of trucks now rolling along the highways of the Commonwealth. And this indicates something radically wrong with the vehicle inspection system in Pennsylvania as it applies to trucks.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Sex Madness

Received a circular asking me whether I wanted the truth about Cuba. If so, I am instructed on the first page of a four-page leaflet to subscribe to a magazine called "The Independent." If I read this publication, I shall know all about Cuba from a person who goes by the name of Lyle Stuart.

I turn to page two of the pamphlet and Cuba is apparently lost. I am now in the realm of love — not the love the poets wrote of, nor the love of mother for child.

This is a special kind of love, such as Phallic Worship or Sex Variant Women in Literature, or I am offered handsome full-page photographs of the nude female. There is more of this. For instance, there is an advertisement of the secret life of Walter Winchell. I have known Walter, for these many years and if he has a secret, it must be most unusual, because Walter Winchell lives way out in the open, with a ringside seat in the Club Room of the Stork Club.

If a fellow can make a buck discovering some secrets about him, he must be a marvel. But why, in this circular, put Walter Winchell's secrets in the same class as a book about Messalina, a very naughty gal, indeed?

Enough of this stuff! Why are such circulars sent to decent folks who must see them before they can throw them away, because what is on the outside is an old-fashioned come-on? This is a discussion on Cuba.

And it is the Cuban come-on that leads to the inside pages which deal with various books that, to use a phrase related to one of them, "tells you the things that don't usually appear in books." Now why do these things not usually appear in books which these days are turned out by the ton without too much taste or originality? It would seem to me that we are becoming too broad-minded about some things. There are writers, and have been through the ages, who enjoy writing about erotic subjects, some of which ultimately are accepted in literature, as Boccaccio, De Maupassant and others have been.

Other writers who enjoy erotica and pornography are not accepted. None of this has anything to do with freedom of the press.

It has to do with taste. And the good taste of one period may not be the good taste of another. On the other hand, sheer vulgarity, inane bestiality are never in good taste.

When a book is advertised as "Has been banned in many places," the attraction is not that this is a work of literary merit but rather that it is the sort of thing the young boy read in bed, under a blanket, with a flashlight.

The free publication of everything and anything has been defended as a sign of maturity. The assumption is that a people are so mature that they can permit little boys to write words on sidewalks with joy in their hearts that the kids know the dirty words so early in life. The idea is that this is an expansion of freedom; also that it is the truth.

The truth is that precisely this type of literature has become associated with the increase of juvenile criminals in the United States and the increase of children born out of wedlock.

The battlers for abstract freedoms do not assume any responsibility for the broken lives which result from lack of restraint, lack of self-control, sexual precocity in boys and girls. It is easy for them to say, "Anything goes!" but, in truth, anything does not go in this life and the young woman who bears a child out of wedlock which she has to rid herself of one way or another, goes through her years with a miserable memory and a bruised conscience. Neither the authors nor publishers of these books are willing to assume any responsibility for that.

But why cover it all up with a tale about Cuba, which has enough troubles without being used as a cover story for an advertisement for books of this type? Or are we to infer that it is all part of the same mental and emotional sickness — the defense of Cuba and the publishing of books that have been banned in many places?

Neck And Neck

The Pennsylvania Story

Riding High

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — There is no denying the fact that for Pennsylvania Democrats the lights on the old yule tree have brightened perfectly since that blazing Christmas season some half dozen years ago.

It will be recalled that the Christmas season of 1964 was one of those occasions few followers of Pennsylvania donkey riders would soon forget.

To them, at that time, after some 16 years of rubbing noses on the windowpane from the outside, the promise ahead was almost unlimited.

Perhaps at no time in the history of the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania was a Christmas season so bright and glowing—the prospect of what might be ahead so enticing and pleasurable — as in 1964.

Reason for all this Christmas cheer and glow of course was the advent of the first Democratic administration on the Keystone State scene in 16 years.

Back in those days in the 1930's there actually seemed to be a questioning attitude among Democrats trying to squeeze into their unaccustomed chairs, of "what are we doing here?"

There is none of that in these dying days of 1969 — a quarter of a century and two successive Democratic administrations later.

In contrast, today — and Republicans of the Keystone State would do well to note this — Democrats abounding on Capitol Hill are of the firm conviction, not hope, that they are here to stay for awhile.

There was no such attitude as this during the gay days of the Earle Administration of the 1930's — nor was there this attitude during the four years of the past Lehigh Administration.

It took the election success of 1968 and the tremendous strides made by donkey riders in this year's election runoff to literally bind the pieces together.

Suffice it to say that Pennsylvania Democrats by now have just about — but not quite — reached the peak Republicans attained in their heyday. Only these two items are lacking to reach this fullest point:

One — they do not yet have complete control of the legislative branch, but only by virtue of missing one lone vote in the State Senate, and two — while they do have the statewide registration edge over Republicans for the first time, it doesn't approach the tremendous GOP margin of yesterday.

Christmas season 1969? Pennsylvania Democrats are riding high as they never have before — and for the first time have every confidence of continuing that way!

20 Years Ago

The estate of the late Tom Mix was left to his daughter, Tomasing Mix Matthews. The estate amounted to $115,000.

The Salvation Army began placing Christmas kettles around the Twin Boroughs for collections. The money was used to purchase food and clothing for the needy in Monroe County.

A car operated by J. Roe Shotwell was slightly damaged when it slid on icy pavement on N. Seventh Street between Monroe and Thomas Streets, Stroudsburg.

—the ascension of Democratic Gov. George M. Leader to the mahogany paneled suite on the second floor front of the Main Capitol Building.

Since those days now a half dozen years ago, as a point of contrast, much has changed and no matter in what light it might be viewed — changed to the benefit of the donkey riders.

They're still in office having elected two years ago their administration in the history of William Penn's game lands.

In fact they are so well entrenched on Capitol Hill at this point that there are many who simply fail to realize that Republicans at one time held the fort!

The point to be made is that this is in sharp contrast with the feeling prevailing the last time Democrats successfully stormed the Capitol Hill ramparts — back in 1935 when the Democratic Governor George H. Earle stumbled in the front door, much to the surprise of everyone including himself and fellow donkey riders.

Back in those days in the 1930's there actually seemed to be a questioning attitude among Democrats trying to squeeze into their unaccustomed chairs, of "what are we doing here?"

Christmas season 1969? Pennsylvania Democrats are riding high as they never have before — and for the first time have every confidence of continuing that way!

20 Years Ago

The estate of the late Tom Mix was left to his daughter, Tomasing Mix Matthews. The estate amounted to $115,000.

The Salvation Army began placing Christmas kettles around the Twin Boroughs for collections. The money was used to purchase food and clothing for the needy in Monroe County.

A car operated by J. Roe Shotwell was slightly damaged when it slid on icy pavement on N. Seventh Street between Monroe and Thomas Streets, Stroudsburg.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

A few years back Jimmie Davis was an actor in "B" pictures. To familiarize people with the "lettering" of movies, actors or actresses cast in "B" films are run-of-the-mill aspirants who make two or three performances and then are retired forcefully to the farm.

"B" movies cover a wide category—mostly from the awful to the nauseating. Davis when he was a thespian, covered this territory well in movieland.

Today, however, the self-styled song stylist is still acting, putting on a show for the Legislature and people of Louisiana.

As governor of the state, Davis has the featured role in the film, "Segregation versus integration."

While the federal court has ruled in favor of integration, Davis has firmly himself entrenched as the "hero" in his battle to beat back the United States court. Thus far, he is losing a slow fight. But his actions have incited the people of New Orleans so much that their matter is running over minds.

It is pitiful to see and hear remarks made by grown men and women that borders on the edge of insanity. Surely they can't mean everything they do or say. But when you have a type like Davis pouring more coal on the fire daily it is no wonder that his "flock" feel they have something to hang on.

Certainly the integration problem could be solved in a more civil manner. The outbreaks of less civilized individuals in the Congo and other small nations is crossed off mildly because of lack of education. Not so in Louisiana though. At least we and they like to think we are much further advanced mentally than those folks in the distant lands. But are they or are we?

Davis was elected on his stand against integration — a Governor Faubus of Arkansas. Naturally he rides the trail in the manner his constituents like. But it has been "B" celluloid all the way. Not one move has been made to go into a first class "A" production.

It would be better all around if Davis said, "I'm tired of these 'B' flops. Let's do something A class for a spell."

Possibly then everyone would sit down at the round-table and come up with something instead of character-snapping, childish mannerisms that only tend to defeat everyone's purpose in this critical situation.

About Town

—By Gene Brown

And then I have an unsigned letter in the mail asking my help to get a man's wife back. The family has a 12 yr. old son and the husband thinks that she needs to mature a bit and then come back home. We're printing the above with little hope of doing much good. This column has not been too successful in restoring wives. We're great on paintings however.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Asked to explain an unexpected defeat administered by an underrated foe, the coach of a big football squad pointed out testily, "The trouble was we used an unbalanced line for the first time — and our backfield wasn't too smart, either."

"Progress," explains New York's Mayor Wagner wryly, "is like this. Once we had narrow dirt roads where two automobiles could barely pass. To-day we have beautifully paved thoroughways where six cars can collide at the same time."

Most exhausted mailman in the history of the Boston post office registered a strong complaint with his immediate superior.

"I been the length of Boylston Street," he grumbled, "and I'm dazed if I could find a fellow named Frangle."

A dignified gentleman was picking his way gingerly along an ice-covered side street in Manhattan when his hat was deftly knocked off by a perfectly aimed snowball. The gentleman wheeled about with surprising agility and collared the culprit — a thin clad boy.

"You're a menace to the neighborhood," he chided, "and besides, you will catch your death of cold out here without a coat. Why aren't you in school anyhow?"

The boy explained, "I've got the measles."

Reports From Congress

Lobbyists Active

By Congressional Quarterly
Washington — The number of persons and organizations going to work as paid lobbyists on Capitol Hill has taken a sharp drop in 1960, according to official Congressional reports.

Between Jan. 1 and Oct. 15, only 225 lobbyist registrations were filed with Congress under the Federal Regulation of Lobbying Act. The number of registrations filed each year since the Lobby Act was passed in 1946 has averaged 384.

A total of 393 registrations was filed in 1959.

The 1960 lobbyist registration total almost certainly will be the lowest since 1952, when 204 registrations were filed.

The Lobby Act was passed by Congress in 1946 to keep tabs on the hundreds of pressure groups at work in the Nation's Capital. It requires any person who "shall engage himself for pay or for any other consideration" for the purpose of attempting to influence legislation to register.

with the Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of State.

Lobby Activity High — Despite the drop in the number of registrations, lobby activity was high during the 1960 session. Pressure groups undoubtedly were influential in the outcome of such issues as health care for the aged, minimum wage coverage, increased pay for federal employees, depressed areas and others, but few of the most active lobby groups were represented accordingly on the list of 1960 registrations.

A check of the registrations, for example, shows that the American Medical Association, which led the fight against legislation to provide free health insurance to social security beneficiaries, increased its registered lobbyists by only two. Both said they were interested in "all bills (Senate and House) relating to health and welfare."

Among the groups opposing the AMA on the health insurance issue were the AFL-CIO and various organizations for older persons, most notably the Golden Ring Clubs. The AFL-CIO for years has maintained a large stable of lobbyists, many of whom worked on the health care bill, but no lobbyist has ever registered for the Golden Ring Clubs.

The influential postal lobby was active in 1960 and succeeded in getting a pay raise for about 1.5 million postal and federal workers. The postal lobby consists of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers (125,000 members) and about a dozen other postal and federal unions. Not one new registration from the postal lobby was filed during the 1960 session.

One issue that did show up in the 1960 lobby registrations was the battle for the American sugar market that took place after the Cuban quota was cut. Organizations from Brazil, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Peru hired Washington lobbyists to take their case to Congress. An agency of the Cuban government also registered, apparently to get their quota back.

Ex-Congressmen — Two former members of Congress joined the ranks of the lobbyists for the first time in 1960. Ex-Sen. Charles E. Potter (R., Mich., 1951-59) registered for the Committee of American Tank Owners at a salary of $25,000 a year—$2,500 more than he made as a senator. Former Rep. John V. Beamer (R., Ind., 1951-59) registered for the Fine Hardwoods Assn., a Chicago group.

The 15-year total of registrations, which in 1960 reached 5,761, does not represent an accurate picture of the number of lobbyists and lobby groups currently active in Washington, however.

First of all, the Act does not require a lobbyist to withdraw his registration when he ceases to be actively engaged in pressuring Congress. Many of the persons who have registered since 1946 have moved into other fields or have died; many of the organizations which have registered have gone out of existence.

Also, many lobbyists have registered two or more times, usually each time they are employed by a different organization. Ex-Sen. Scott W. Lucas (D., Ill., 1939-51), for example, filed a registration in 1960, listing as his employer Group Hospitalization Inc. It was the 27th organization Lucas has represented and the 31st registration he has filed since moving from the Senate to the "third House of Congress."

For these reasons, the 15-year total of registrations — 5,761—actually represents 4,085 different lobbyists and pressure groups, according to Congressional Quarterly records. Of the 225 registrations filed so far in 1960, only 139 were from persons and organizations who had never registered before.

Boys Removed From Cold Cave

BEDFORD, Ind. (AP) — Three teen-aged boys were found wet, cold but safe yesterday after being lost more than 27 hours deep underground in a huge cave.

A volunteer task force of 25 police and cave-exploring experts located the Indianapolis youths, perched shivering on a mud ledge 90 feet underground and about 1½ miles inside Sullivan Cave. Suffering only slightly from exposure were Jeffrey Foxon, 16; Michael Harrell, 15, and Robert Larsen, 15.

Police Probe Death Of Man

BOYERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — State police, acting on a pathologist's report, are trying to find out how 49-year-old Milan Spatz, of nearby Manatowyn, met his death. It was first thought he had been accidentally shot on a hunting trip. But Dr. George Desjardins, of St. Joseph's Hospital in Reading, said Spatz could not have shot himself twice in the face, accidentally. Spatz' body was found Saturday about a mile from his home.

Killed Walking Across Highway

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A soldier from Hazleton, Pa., was killed by an automobile as he was crossing U. S. 50 Sunday. The victim, Robert De Francesco, 43, was assigned to a Nid base in the area. State police named the car driver as Arthur Ballard Berry, Jr., 19, assigned to Ft. Bragg, N. C. He was charged with reckless driving.

Sump Pump Can Solve Your Problem

AP Newsfeatures
FOR THE protection of your oil burner, washing machine and recreation room, you would be smart to install a sump pump or cellar drainer.

The pump is put into a well or sump to which surplus water in the basement drains. The pump is equipped with a float valve which starts the motor automatically when the water in the sump reaches the danger point. The pump continues to operate until all water has been drained from the sump.

Householders who have basement water problems are advised to consult an experienced plumbing contractor about the best type of pump.

LITTLE CAGES OF CROSS-WIRE MESH can be used to prevent downspouts from becoming hopelessly clogged with leaves. Insert the cages in the gutter outlet. Remove and clean about twice a year.

Parade of Homes

DESIGN NO: H-77
House: 888 sq.ft.
24,130 cu.ft.
Garage: 384 sq.ft.

Designed For Accessibility Easy To All Rooms

SO VERY attractive with its beautifully styled exterior, large picture windows and overhanging roof — a home that commands respect!

This design is planned for easy accessibility to all rooms, featuring a central hallway for good traffic circulation.

As you walk through the vestibule which includes a coat closet, you enter a large living room featuring a wonderful fireplace. Included in the "L" shaped living-dining area are built-in china cabinets and buffet. There is plenty of wall space here suitable for a variety of furniture grouping.

Kitchen is well-planned for step-saving efficiency and very roomy. Plenty of counter space and cabinets here plus a sink under the window — ideal for keeping an eye on the children at play.

Just down a short hall we find a sizable library which will appeal to that "book-worm" in the family. There is also closet and storage space here with adjoining lavatory — could be adaptable easily to a fifth bedroom if so desired.

A large family will like the convenience of four bedrooms upstairs plus a cedar closet and second bath. All these bedrooms are spacious having ample closet space. Note the private bath adjoining the master bedroom.

Garage has storage space as well as that work bench so appreciated by the man of the house. Easily accessible to the house as well as the backyard.

Truly a large and spacious home you would love to call your own.

This plan conforms to FHA, VA, and Building Codes. This plan contains 888 square feet, 24,130 cubic feet and 384 square feet in the garage.

Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

Complete Building Plan, including Detail Sheet, Material List, and Specification Guide for Design No. H-77 may be purchased for $9.75 first set; two for $18.25; three for $26.25; or four for $33.75. ## Right Roofing Laughs Off Big Winds SEVERE hurricanes, such as the late, death-dealing and destructive Donna, usually leave a path of damage so wide and great that there's little room for mention in news bulletins of so-called "minor" damage to homes in the path of the big blow.

Yet these "minor" damages—things like fallen shade trees and houses stripped of roofing—often exert extreme hardships on homeowners who are victims.

A wind-shattered shade tree, for example, takes years to replace. Its loss may sharply reduce the value of the property, and can mean many long, uncomfortable summers if the tree shaded the house.

Roofing material can be replaced, but its loss in a windstorm may mean disaster to a home. Most windstorms are accompanied or followed by deluging rains. When roofing is torn away by high winds, these rains pour into the house, saturating plaster, getting into insulation and wiring circuits, and soaking clothing, furniture, and other possessions.

Unless a homeowner has special windstorm insurance, this kind of damage can deal his family a severe financial setback. So-called "extended coverage" policies often fail to cover water damage.

The best insurance against roof and rain damage in a windstorm is to prevent it with a wind-resistant roof of self-sealing or interlocking asphalt shingles or by cementing down conventional shingle tabs. Low in applied cost a wind-resistant roof can be applied by nearly any roofing contractor and is available in a wide range of colors.

Wind-resistant asphalt roofs have been known to remain securely in place after high winds have ripped entire roof assemblies away.

Type Molding Is Produced

MANY different kinds of moldings have been developed for use with plywood, planks and most "dry wall" materials.

The latest is a molding to be used with the installation of plastic laminates. The backs of the moldings are aluminum. The faces are made of matching plastic, equal in durability to the high pressure laminates.

Available in a wide variety of patterns, colors and shapes, the moldings provide a kind of shadow effect to a wall installation.

This Santa Gives To People

ANYONE WHO appreciates the unusual will be fascinated with this four foot by six foot outdoor Christmas greeting. Only after people stop and take a second look do they realize Santa is actually waving his arm. The motion is supplied by a specially designed motor which is connected to the arm with easy to install linkage available in a kit.

The pattern offered below is full size and so simplifies tracing, cutting and painting Santa and the scenic background, everyone makes like a "pro" building it.

Neighborhood and community groups, civic and fraternal clubs, doctors, dentists, merchants and others who want to wish their friends or customers a "Merry Christmas," find this prize winning display a real conversation piece.

A complete alphabet provided with the pattern simplifies lettering in any name or message with professional results assured.

A word of caution... place this display where it doesn't cause a traffic jam. When spotlighted at night the illusion is so lifelike most people don't believe what they see and instinctively stop short.

This motion display is built from Pattern 762 which costs $2. The motor and linkage costs $9.50. Send all requests for Santa Motion Display 762 and motor linkage kit to The Daily Record, P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York.

Rocking Horse Provides Endless Hours Of Pleasure

LIKE MOST spirited mounts, this colorful broncho shows "white in his eye" but he is still a good natured fellow that provides endless hours of high adventure for the lucky youngster who rides him.

Building toys can be lots of fun. It's an intriguing and creative pastime that turns lumber and paint into delightful toys at a fraction of retail cost.

The full size pattern offered below helps convert a few hours of spare time into a "pony with a personality." By merely tracing the pattern on lumber or plywood and cutting each part to exact shape of the full size pattern, the pony can be built by amateurs with professional results assured. To insure decorating, the pattern provides full size painting guides. These are traced directly on the pony, each color is then painted in exact position pattern indicates. Send 50 cents in coin or money order for Pony Ride Rocker, Pattern 53 to The Daily Record, P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York. Send additional 35 cents for 64 page catalog illustrating over 300 other Build It Yourself projects.

Here's The Answer

Question: I am now engaged in a job which calls for driving a considerable number of brass screws into hand maple. Quite a few of the screw heads break off, even though I have been drilling small pilot holes for the screws. How can I prevent the heads from breaking?

Answer: The pilot holes you have been drilling probably are too small for this type of project. Try making them just a fraction of an inch smaller in diameter than the screws. Or you can try this old trick: Drive a steel screw into a pilot hole, then remove it and replace it with one of the brass screws.

Exterior Colors Available To Solve 'Look-Alikes'

LARGE development builders today have largely overcome one of their "sins" of the immediate postwar housing boom—row on row of look-alike houses.

Margaret Hargreaves, a leading California color stylist, says exterior color has played an important role in giving development homes more individuality.

Miss Hargreaves, who color styles thousands of homes annually in the Los Angeles area, says she considers the roof the common denominator of color for a home, and chooses its color first.

"Whether seen on a single house or as part of a development from a moving car, the roof is the largest visible area, so I frequently specify asphalt shingle roofs of different colors to keep each house from being lost in a monotonous sea of roof tops," Miss Hargreaves points out. Paintable areas of each house then can be varied, house by house, to harmonize with both the roof of the house itself and the color schemes of nearby houses.

This keeps tract houses from looking like peas in a pod. "When the sun's heat is a problem, I may specify roofs of white or pastel asphalt shingles for all the houses in a tract. Light colored roofs reflect sunshine without glare," Miss Hargreaves adds.

A wide variety of color schemes can be used with asphalt shingles in many of the blended colors available. Although the shingles appear to be one basic color, they actually are coated with protective granules of several colors. This subtle coloring provides great flexibility in color styling the rest of the house.

Dear Abby

Her Mistrust Backfires

Dear Abby: I was very angry when I found a letter on my daughter's desk addressed to me. I was very hurt to think that my daughter would write to you about her problem instead of coming to me. So I did an inexcusable thing. I steamed open the envelope, and after reading the letter, I wanted to die of shame. I guess parents just have to trust their children. When you read her letter you'll know why. Here it is:

A PROUD MOTHER

Dear Abby: All my friends say I have a strict, old-fashioned mother, but I think she is wonderful. She doesn't let me do all the things my friends do, but I know she is holding me back for my own good. Sometimes I scream and carry on, but it doesn't do me any good. I love both my parents very much and wouldn't trade them for the world.

A LUCKY TEEN-AGER

Dear Abby: I disagree with your remarks about shooting wild birds and game. They are not "defenseless." Nature provided them with camouflage-coloring which changes with the seasons in order that they may hide. Birds can fly and deer can run as swift as any arrow. Hunting is a sport and there is nothing "cruel" about it.

LOVES TO HUNT

Dear Loves To: What you say may be true, but have you ever seen a duck that could shoot back?

Dear Abby: Fifteen months ago we had a little boy who was born with club feet. We have him in casts up to his hips. Everyone who sees him wants to know what's wrong with his legs.

We have our house up for sale now and when people come into the house, instead of looking at the house they run right over to the baby and say, "Oh, what's wrong with his legs?"

I'd like to tell them it's none of their business, but I haven't the nerve. They all have the same story that someone in their family or someone they knew had the same trouble. Please tell me what to say. I don't want to be rude, but I can't take it any more.

VERY VERY WEARY

Dear Weary: Your visitors don't mean to be rude, so you shouldn't become upset. It's perfectly natural to ask "what happened?" when a baby is in casts up to both hips. Your best answer is this: "When he was born, his little legs were not quite normal—but he'll be fine soon."

Confidential To Herb: If that is "togetherness"—TRY "apartness."

For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby care of The Daily Record.

Holiday Leave For Enlistees

SGT. DONALD K. Smith, local Army recruiter, announced yesterday that young men from this area enlisting in the Regular Army between Dec. 12 and Jan. 1 will be given a leave, if they so desire, so that they may spend the holidays at home.

Men enlisting during this period will leave for camp on Jan. 2.

Sgt. Smith pointed out that one great advantage of the program is that if a young man enlists before Christmas this year he will be getting discharged before Christmas at the completion of his three-year enlistment.

For further information visit the Army Recruiting Office at the Stroudsburg Post Office or phone HAMILTON 1-4911.

Just Between Us

Which would you rather have: a hot bath every day or a hostess who always has time to talk to you? It sounds like a question from one of those personality tests they give in high school but it was one Dr. Ruth Kistler had to answer in earnest during her year abroad.

Since her purpose in traveling was to polish up her French and learn how French families live, the answer wasn't in much doubt. So for two months she lived in a pensione with no hot water and no tub available.

Which doesn't mean she didn't take a bath for two months, I'll hasten to add. For 200 francs she could have half an hour in an excellent public bath with all the hot water she wanted and if she hustled she could have a bath, wash her hair and her nylons in the same time limit.

Having just come through a week with no water at all, I might have hesitated, momentarily, but I hope not seriously. I'd hate to think I had reached the age, either chronologically or spiritually, when I'd choose comfort rather than conversation, convenience rather than companionship, or prefer a rocking chair to adventure.

Of course it's nice to have both—but the thing about Ruth Kistler's experience was that she didn't complain about the inconvenience, just enjoyed the friendship of her landlady.

And the enjoyment showed through in her talk and was shared by those who heard her.

"IMAGE OF A GIRL" is Emma Jean Dailey of Tobyhanna, selected as a finalist in a nationwide contest sponsored by a recording company.

Local Girl Interviewed For Top Spot In Contest

Tobyhanna — Not visions of sugar plums but of a week in Hollywood might well be dancing through the head of Emma Jean Dailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dailey of Tobyhanna.

It all started when Emma Jean went in a Stroudsburg music store to buy a record and picked up a pamphlet of instructions on how to enter "Image of a Girl Contest." She sent in the entry blank and two pictures of herself and was duly notified that her pictures had been chosen to run in the semi-finals.

Not hearing anything further, she assumed the winners had been chosen and had almost forgotten the whole thing when she was notified that she had been chosen to run in the final.

On Nov. 12, she went to Philadelphia where she met and was interviewed by Red Gilson, vice president and general manager of the Eldo Recording Co. For the winner there will be many prizes, including that week in Hollywood.

Even if she doesn't win, Emma Jean said she was thrilled at being picked for the finals of a nationwide contest.

Emma Jean, 18, is a graduate of Coatsburg High School, Tobyhanna, and is a student at Churchman's Business College, Easton.

Mrs. Gregory is the former Margaret Ann Peacock, daughter of Mrs. Helen Peacock, of Dover, Del. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gregory, of East Lansdowne.

Candied Peel Makes Simple Holiday Sweet

Know any devotees of candied orange peel? Then make this interesting confection to serve with other sweet snacks during the holidays — or any time.

Like to give economical gifts from your kitchen? The candied peel is a perfect offering because its making takes more time than money. Only ingredients needed: oranges and a syrup made of sugar, corn syrup and water. For a glamorous flavor addition, the ends of the candied peel are dipped in melted chocolate.

Florentine Orange Peel

4 to 6 medium sized oranges.
1 teaspoon salt,
2 cups sugar,
½ cup light corn syrup,
1 cup water,
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces.

Choose thick-skinned oranges of a good color and free from blemishes. Wash oranges; make lengthwise cuts on peel down to pulp membrane so there are 4 to 6 sections; with fingers pull off peel. Cover peel with cold water; add salt; bring to a boil; boil 10 minutes; drain. Repeat boiling and draining 2 more times, each time covering with fresh cold water and omitting salt. If white membrane is extra-thick, with bowl of spoon gently remove some of it; peel should be about ¼ inch thick. Cut peel into strips with scissors.

Mix 2 cups sugar, corn syrup and water in a 3-quart saucepan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Add orange peel; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and boil gently 45 minutes. Drain in coarse strainer or colander, reserving syrup. Roll peel, a few pieces at a time, in extra sugar. Arrange in a single layer on trays; let dry about 24 hours. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot water. Dip ends of peel in melted chocolate; place on waxed paper until chocolate hardens. Wrap tightly in transparent plastic wrapping; store in covered container. Makes about 10 ounces.

To use reserved syrup: After draining peel, bring syrup to a full rolling boil; cool; refrigerate covered. Use as a sauce for a dessert, waffles or pancakes.

No Glasses, No Gray Hair For Women Of France But Dr. Kistler Finds Friends

Even though Dr. Ruth Kistler, head of the French department at East Stroudsburg State College, spent last year in France, polishing her French and living with French families, she admitted that she would not be mistaken for a French woman.

Her reasons, given at the meeting of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Assn. of University Women on Monday night, were among the lighter recollections of "The Women of France."

For instance, she pointed out, no French woman under 105 will wear glasses in public, which may account, she added wryly, for the number of traffic accidents. No French woman would tolerate gray hair, either, and they spend a lot of money on their hair in beauty salons.

Another distinguishing factor in winter is the heavy material of which French clothes are made. The Parisian woman is elegant and formal in dress, wearing gloves even on early morning shopping expeditions.

Their homes are beautifully furnished in antique and period furniture but inconvenient by American standards, often with no hot water or with the kitchen in the basement and the dining room far removed.

French women, however, make an art of cooking with fresh bread for breakfast and no canned or frozen foods. Fresh each day and prepared with loving care, the main meals include a complete dinner from 12 to 2 and another dinner served at 8 or 8:30.

French women also make most of the clothes for their families and excel in knitting.

There are many women alone in France which lost many men in the war, she said. The working women have long hours, low pay and terrific competition, she reported. Women students work too hard, she said, telling of the schedule of the students she had known.

Dr. Kistler showed representative slides of the main areas in which she lived during her stay in France: Of Orleans and Tours; Paris with the AAUW headquarters and her walking tour of the city; of Aix and Marseille on the Mediterranean; and of some of the friends she had made during her stay; lawyers, journalists, teachers, a druggist, and housewives.

She also showed pictures of homes she had visited from a chateau with liveried butlers to the home of a family who worked in a watch factory; from student quarters to hunting lodges.

She was introduced by Mrs. M. R. Kiefer, and there were many guests at the meeting.

Mrs. Jack Lantz presided at the business meeting. The Spring conference will be held in Hershey April 22-23. Mrs. David Mazer explained a new project of the Pocono Mountain Art Center group of bringing outstanding films: documentary, classics and foreign films here and registered those interested.

Refreshments were served by Miss Catherine Reimard and her committee from a table decorated with holly and dark green mugs.

ROUND AND ABOUT WYCKOFF'S

There's nothing lovelier for the money than the poinsettia and candle arrangement for table or mantel now priced at only 5.50 in our gift department. The poinsettias are arranged face upward on a flat surface of brass, with tall red candles at either side. Nothing fussy or overdone—just very correct simplicity. We have others more expensively priced too, I understand. . . . Another cute, Christmasy item for the holiday table is the salt and pepper set, shaped like stubby red candles with golden flame. These are only 1.00 and we have only a few pairs left. I am told. . . . Speaking of candles reminds me that we have them in all shapes and sizes. There is a gold-seined Santa head; colorful water lilies that float in ethereal beauty on the dinner table; spiraled candles in two tones; very slender tapers to tuck in with bouquets, and giant-sized snowballs dusted with metallic glitter. There's something spiritual about a candle, isn't there, and whenever I write of them I remember a lecture at Union College in Schenectady one cold wintry night, when Father James Keller, founder of the Christophers, had us sing the Christopher song, "It is better to light just one little candle than to stumble in the dark." As we sang, each lighted a taper from that of the person seated next to him, and suddenly the hall was aglow with light, warmth and fellowship. I love candles—don't you? . . . Glowing to are the Helmses which have just arrived in large numbers and great variety at Wyckoff's. These rather sizeable scenes are both pictures and lamps, colorful and charming. Priced at 13.95, the picture is on simulated canvas through which the light shines. Scenes are varied—some are of lakes and water falls, such as we might see here in our own Monroe County; some are of autumn. Others show deer leaping through forests. For the right place and the right person these are an excellent gift idea. See them in our gift department. . . . Adjacent to Gifts, in the notions department, there are some attractive gift items too. There are plastic and brocade boxes, some velvet lined, that are perfect for

Hopewell Adds 22

ESSC Shades Montclair;
Salerno Gets 25 Points

MONTCLAIR, N. J. — Tony Salerno and Russ Hopewell teamed for 47 points Tuesday night as East Stroudsburg State College shaded Montclair State 84-80.

Salerno, one of two seniors on the club and a co-captain hit for 25 points and Hopewell, team club's leading scorer added 22.

Salerno, from Old Forge, hit on 11 of 12 foul attempts as the Warriors collected 22 points from the foul line. But Montclair had an even better night from the floor, scoring on 24 of 31 tries.

Hopewell hit on a jump shot to send East Stroudsburg into a 2-0 lead early in the game and the Warriors never trailed. But they could never build their lead to more than 11 points, as the Jersey club controlled the backboards.

Second Win

It was the second win in as many outings for the Warriors and their fourth straight victory, including two holdover games from last season.

Joe Habakus was the only other Warrior to hit double figures. Habakus hit for 10, John Polanchak added nine and Ed Becker scored eight. Ed Chesky led all scorers with 32, gathered on 12 field goals and eight free throws.

Court Ruling Expected Today

NEW YORK (AP) — A ruling is expected Wednesday on an attempt by former welterweight champion Don Jordan to block Benny (Kid) Paret's scheduled title defense against Argentina's Federico Thompson at Madison Square Garden Saturday.

McGrane has been experimenting with the other positions on a starting lineup. Bob Nugent, a 6-3 sophomore from Binghamton, N. Y., has looked promising. Nugent was the top scorer on the freshman squad last year and has the height to make him a good rebounder.

One of the starting berths is likely to go to Cas Lasecki, a 6-0 junior from Nanticoke. Lasecki is a good playmaker and can be counted on to score his share of the points.

King's will be trying to open on a successful note after last year's 7-12 finish. The Monarchs split two games with the Warriors last season.

SU Beats Slaters 68-57 In Opener

BANGOR — Stroud Union High school built a 32-19 halftime lead and held off a second half Bangor rally for a 68-57 opening game win Tuesday night.

The Mounties were bothered by the Slaters zone defense and press but still managed to turn in 20 point quarters in the second and third periods.

John Baylor led the winners with 22 points, followed by Mike McMahon, with 21. Baylor collected most of his points on corner and drive shots, while McMahon scored heavily on short jump shots.

But Makes Restrictions

O'Malley Gives OK To LA American Loop Entry

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, told The Associated Press Tuesday he is willing to permit the American League to operate with a 10th club in Los Angeles in 1961 under certain conditions.

The American and National Leagues have been at sword points in the bitter territorial dispute.

O'Malley's surprise move was interpreted as an action that would tend to take Commissioner Ford Frick off the hot spot. If the two leagues had continued to fight to the bitter end, it would have been up to Frick to cast the decisive ballot at Wednesday's joint meeting.

Now it appears the two leagues may be in agreement and no tie breaking vote will be necessary.

Back In Saddle
O'Malley declined to elaborate on what conditions he had in mind. But it was learned elsewhere that among the conditions were: The new Los Angeles club must play its home games at Wrigley Field for the first two years; Sign a 3-year lease to play in O'Malley's new Chavez Ravine park, which is due to be completed in 1962, and certain indemnities to be paid to the Dodgers and the National League.

The American League, unofficially rebuffed in its latest suggestion that the National League expand to nine clubs by including New York and play an inter-league schedule in 1961, already had awarded the Los Angeles franchise to a group headed by Gene Autry.

Fred Haney, former Milwaukee and Pittsburgh manager, was expected to select the players from the talent pool at the Dec. 13 player allotment meeting. It was understood Haney will be the club's player personnel director.

The Los Angeles group headed by Autry, the singing cowboy who has vast holdings in the business world, includes Bobby Reynolds, former Stanford tackle; Kenyon Brown, operator of a Los Angeles TV station; Paul O'Bryan, a Washington attorney, and Joseph Thomas, a New York stock broker who formerly was associated with O'Bryan and Brown in the ownership of the Detroit Tigers.

THE RYAN brothers, Norbert and John teamed for 35 points, as Barrett downed Lake Ariel 76-60 last night at Barrett.

Norbert collected 22 points and John added 13. A. J. Bittner hit for 18 points and Tom Young 15, to complete the Barrett double figure scores.

The Lakers managed to stay close to Barrett for a period but in the second frame Barrett hit for 20 points to pull away. Coach Al Schollenberger's club added 40 points in the second half to seal the win, the second against one loss for Barrett.

R. Bell led the winners with 26 points. Lake Ariel missed only one foul shot, hitting on 12 of 13 tries.

The Senate passed the measure 34-0, the House 91-0.

The legislature then recessed its second special session, in an attempt to circumvent or overthrow federal court orders to integrate public schools in New Orleans.

The new bill provides an alternate school system for parents who don't want to send their children to schools with Negroes.

Mutuals Nonassessable

By William A. Doyle

Q. I have seen your replies concerning capital-gains distribution to shareholders of mutual funds. However, what would happen if the long-run trend of the economy and the stock market turned downward? Would mutual fund shareholders be assessed for capital losses?

A. No. Mutual fund shares are "fully paid and nonassessable."

Even if fund shares did not have that provision, things wouldn't work out the way you have in mind.

Capital-gains distributions represent the net profits a mutual fund makes by selling securities at a higher price than it paid for those securities.

Each fund normally raises money by selling its shares to the public. That money is usually invested in many different securities.

Sooner or later the fund will sell some of those securities in its investment portfolio. If those portfolio transactions result in a profit, that profit is distributed to shareholders as a capital-gains distribution.

If the portfolio transactions result in a net loss, no capital-gains distributions are made. No profits, no capital-gains distributions.

If the fund keeps losing money on its portfolio transaction and if the market values of the securities it owns also fall, the asset value of each share of the fund will fall. But even that wouldn't bring on any need for an assessment of shareholders to raise additional cash.

Q. I plan to invest in mutual funds, so that I will have some extra income after I retire. I would like to buy shares of a "growth type" fund now and continue to do so until I retire. Then, I would like to switch into an "income type" fund. Will I be able to make the switch without paying commissions on the money I take out of the growth fund to put into the income fund?

A. It all depends on what fund you pick. A number of mutual fund management organizations run two or more mutual funds. Some of them allow shareholders to switch from one fund to another by paying only a small fee. Some have reduced commission arrangements on such switches. Some charge full commissions.

Check with your securities dealer to find out which fund organizations have arrangements best suited for your purposes.

Q. If I own shares of one mutual fund and switch my investment into shares of another mutual fund run by the same management organization, do I have to pay any Federal capital-gains taxes?

A. If the redemption value of the shares you own and switch out of is higher than the amount of money you paid for them, you have a profit. That profit is subject to Federal capital-gains tax. This applies even though you reinvest the money in a different fund immediately.
